Bankruptcy of P. T. Barnum and the Jerome Clock Company.

The New York Post has the following in relation to the pecuniary troubles and the assignments of Mr. Barnum and the Jerome Clock Company:

The assets of the Jerome Company consist of their factory, and a large amount of clock machinery. The latter, in their present state, it is said, will not realize much for the creditors. The mortgages on Barnum's country-seat in Fairfield, just out of Bridgeport, called "Iranistan," and the property adjacent, amount to $125,000. The Albany Journal. CHAMBERMAIDS .- The New Orleans Crescent has the following jeu d'esprit on these valuable members of society:

Chambermaids are an "institution"—have been an institution ever since old mother Eve (confound her, why did she allow the devil to seduce her into eating that abominable apple!) experienced the want of a nurse and attendant. They-that is, the institution-have continued to grow in importance throughout all the ages known to the records of sacred and profane, ancient and modern history, and are now so firmly established on an immovable foundation, that nothing but the last blast from Gabriel's trumpet "Not so fast," said the Bey, "I am not done yet.
